ADVERTISEMENT.

A CATALOGUE of the books belonging to the Library Company of Philadelphia, was published in the year 1789. Since that period, a considerable number of books has been added by donations and purchases, and also, a great and valuable addition of more than twenty-five hundred volumes of scarce and costly works, made to the Library, by the liberal bequest of the late Reverend Samuel Preston, Rector of Chevening in the county of Kent, Great-Britain. The list was thus rendered in a great degree useless, and a desire having been expressed, by many of the members, that another should be published; the Directors have therefore prepared a complete Catalogue of the Books now belonging to the Institution. To obviate objections often made to the plan of the former Catalogue, they have been induced to publish the present one, comprehending books of all sizes, in an alphabetical form so far as the names of Authors and Editors could be used. The anonymous books constitute by themselves an Appendix, and are classed scientifically, each under its proper size. The numerous pamphlets and small tracts, which it was not thought expedient to include in the alphabetical arrangement, appear by themselves, and form a second appendix. A copious Index is subjoined, to facilitate the inquiry after any book belonging to the Library. The present Catalogue may perhaps be liable to some objections, but the Directors apprehend it will be easily understood by every class of Readers, and prove on the whole useful and convenient.

EXPLANATION.

The Italic capitals which immediately follow the number of the books, refer to the size, thus:

F. Folio.
Q. Quarto.
O. Octavo.
D. Duodecimo.

L. At the end of the title indicates that the work belongs to the donation of the late William Logan.

P. In a similar situation, that the work forms part of the bequest of the late Rev. Samuel Preston.

Annexed to the Catalogue of Books is a description of the Coins and Medals belonging to the Library Company; the gift of individuals at different periods. Their number, however, being too small to form a collection of any great importance, it has been thought sufficient, in order to give the classical or historical student the best aid they can furnish, to arrange them as they are now done, inserting the inscriptions of the ancient coins only, or of such modern medals or coins as claim particular attention. These medals and coins will be shewn on application to the Librarian.

A SHORT

ACCOUNT

LIBRARY.

THE foundation of the preſent library was laid in the year 1731; a period when Philadelphia afforded little aſſiſtance to the inquiries of the ſtudious. A number of gentlemen having raiſed the ſum of one hundred pounds by ſubſcription a ſmall library was formed upon principles the beſt calculated to diſſeminate knowledge: the books were not, as in many of the public libraries of Europe, confined to the apartments, but the ſubſcribers were allowed to carry them home for a reaſonable ſpace of time.

The plan ſoon became popular; acceſſions to the number of members took place, and the ſtock of books was annually increaſed by purchaſes at the company's expenſe, and liberal donations from perſons both at home and abroad.

The then proprietaries of Pennſylvania appear to have taken a patriotic pleaſure in the encouragement of the plan. Beſides ſeveral valuable donations, they granted a charter of incorporation in the year 1742.

A ſpirit of literary improvement made its way among all claſſes of people, and the philanthropy of the great and amiable character* who ſuggeſted the plan, was gratified by tracing the books as well into the hands of the opulent, with whom literature is ſometimes no more than one of the ornaments of civil life, as among thoſe to whom it renders a more ſubſtantial benefit. Letters, while they employ the leiſure of the artiſt, reconcile him to his labour; by removing groſſer relaxations they promote his health, while they enlarge his mind; and prolong his life, while they teach him to enjoy it.

* Doctor Franklin.

The reſpectable and intelligent character of the latter claſs of people in Philadelphia and its environs, cannot be referred to a more probable cauſe, than the habits of reading promoted by this inſtitution.

The great utility and ſucceſs of this meaſure, occaſioned the formation of other libraries upon ſimilar principles. But as it appeared more conducive to the intereſts of literature, to be poſſeſſed of one large, than of ſeveral ſmaller collections of books, coalitions gradually took place among them, till the Amicable, the Aſſociation and the Union Companies were blended with the Library Company of Philadelphia, the title conferred by the charter.

Since this event, which took place in the year 1769, the members and the property of the company have continued to increaſe: the former being nearly ſeven hundred in number. The number of volumes, excluſive of nearly four thouſand, in the Loganian Library, now annexed to this inſtitution; at preſent, amounts to about fourteen thouſand five hundred; the ſelection of which, has in general been calculated to promote the more important intereſts of ſociety. And the ſtock of books is continually increaſed by occaſional donations, annual importations and purchaſes of moſt of the American productions of merit.

Some valuable machines and apparatus for the purpoſes of natural philoſophy, &c. and a variety of curious artificial and natural productions alſo belong to the company, and are depoſited in their apartments.

Beſides the collection, the perſonal property, conſiſts in ſome public, ſtock; the ſale of ſhares, which ſince the year 1793 have been fixed at forty dollars, and the annual payments which ſince the year 1795, have been fixed at two dollars from each member. The real eſtate of the inſtitution, conſiſts of the lot and buildings, where the Philadelphia and Loganian libraries are kept.

The members hold the property as tenants in common, and diſpoſe of their ſhares by will or deed; but the aſſent of the Directors, as well in ſuch caſes as in caſe of an original purchaſe, is previouſly neceſſary —a reſtriction early adopted, in order, as much as poſſible, to prevent improper perſons from having acceſs to a collection of a nature ſo liable to injury.

Ten Directors and a Treaſurer are annually elected by the members: the Directors appoint a Secretary and a Librarian,—for the reſpective powers and duties of whom, the reader is referred to the charter and the ſubſequent laws and regulations.

Enacted at a general meeting held purſuant to public notice, on the ſixteenth day of March, 1795.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia, April 17, 1795.

The Secretary reported, That the following act has been paſſed by the Legiſlature of this commonwealth, viz.

"An act to authorize the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia to increase the annual payment of the Members of the ſaid Company.

"WHEREAS, by the charter of the ſaid company, the annual payments directed to be made by its reſpective members appear limited to the ſum "of ten ſhillings, which, from the depreciation of money ſince the year one thouſand ſeven hundred and forty-two, when the ſaid charter was granted, has become inadequate to the purpoſes originally intended: And whereas, the ſtockholders in the ſaid company, at a general meeting on the ſixteenth of March, one thouſand ſeven hundred and ninety five, inſtructed the Directors to petition the Legiſlature to paſs a law authorizing the ſaid Directors to increaſe the ſaid payments to two dollars, and it appears reaſonable that the prayer of the ſaid petitioners ſhould be granted.

"Section 1. Be it therefore enacted by the Senate and Houſe of Repreſentatives of the commonwealth of Pennſylvania, in General Aſſembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the ſame, That the Directors of the Library Company, for the time being, be, and they are hereby, authorized to increaſe the annual payments hereafter to be made by the members of the ſaid company, to the ſum of two dollars from each member of the ſaid company, any thing in the charter thereof to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

"GEORGE LATIMER, Speaker of the Houſe of Repreſentatives.

"ROBERT HARE, Speaker of the Senate.

"Approved, April the thirteenth, 1795.

"THOMAS MIFFLIN, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennſylvania."

Whereupon, the following reſolution was agreed to, viz.

Whereas by an act of the General Aſſembly, paſſed on the thirteenth day of April inſtant, the Directors of the Library Company of Philadelphia are authorized to increaſe the annual payments to be made by each member to the ſum of two dollars, it is therefore Reſolved, That the annual payment to be made on each ſhare, on the firſt Monday of May next, and from and after that time, ſhall be, and it is hereby, increaſed to the ſum of two dollars, and the Treaſurer is hereby authorized and inſtructed, to demand and receive the ſame from the Members, under the like penalties and forfeitures as are now in force for recovering the annual payments heretofore eſtabliſhed.

Extracted from the Minutes,

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors, held the ſixth of Auguſt, 1795, the following reſolution was adopted, to wit:

Reſolved, that every member, or other perſon, who ſhall take out a book or books on hire, ſhall pay, for the uſe of the Library, the following rates weekly: For Duodecimos and Octavos two ſixteenths of a dollar, Quartos three ſixteenths of a dollar, and Folios four ſixteenths of a dollar, and no ſmaller ſum, although the book may be returned within the week.

That for neglecting to return the book or books, ſo taken out on hire, within the times ſpecified in the rules of the Company, they ſhall pay to the Librarian, for the uſe aforeſaid, two ſixteenths of a dollar per week in addition to the hire.*

Extracted from the minutes,

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors held November 7, 1805, the following reſolution was adopted, to wit:

Books belonging to this inſtitution, having in ſeveral inſtances been obtained by printers, and taken to pieces for the purpoſe of enabling them to print new editions, and ſuch practices being deemed inconſiſtent with the purpoſes for which the Library has been eſtabliſhed, Reſolved, that in all future caſes of a ſimilar nature ſuits ſhall be brought againſt the parties tranſgreſſing.

BENJAMIN R. MORGAN, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Directors, held October 2, 1806, the following reſolution was adopted, to wit:

Reſolved, that the gazettes or public newſpapers belonging to this inſtitution be annually valued by the labelling committee for the time being, and the ſaid valuation placed in the hands of the Librarian, and in caſe the ſame or any part thereof be required by any counſel or attorney as evidence in the courts of juſtice, the perſon applying for the ſame ſhall ſign one of the notes uſually taken for books borrowed of the Library, which note ſhall be filled up in the ſum at which the whole ſet of ſuch papers, of which any volume or volumes are required, ſhall have been laſt valued, and alſo that the ſame ſhall be returned within one week from the time of borrowing the ſame, and fifty cents per diem for each volume paid for its uſe on its being returned.

RULES

TO BE OBSERVED BY THE LIBRARY COMPANY OF PHILADELPHIA.

I. THE Librarian ſhall attend at the Library, every day (Sundays excepted) from two o'clock, P. M. until ſun-ſet. He ſhall enter in the catalogue, kept at the library, ſuch books may be purchaſed or added to the library; label and number the ſame, as well as all others from which the label or number may be torn off or defaced. He ſhall alſo replace the books on the ſhelves, as they are brought in, as ſoon as he conveniently can, firſt having examined whether they are free from damage.

II. He ſhall lend to any member,

One Folio for five,
One Quarto for three,
One Octavo, or
Two Duodecimos, for two } Weeks, and no greater number, unleſs on hire, or ſo connected as to be otherwiſe uſeleſs. Such perſons, however, who reſide at the diſtance of ſeven miles or upwards, are permitted to have books one week longer than the above-mentioned times. For all books ſo lent, he ſhall take a note, payable to the Company, for double the value, as nigh as he can eſtimate, of the book or ſet of books to which they belong, conditioned to return the ſame, undefaced, within the time above mentioned; at the expiration of which (unleſs application has been made by another member for the ſame books, and the Librarian requeſted to take a memorandum thereof,) the borrower may, on producing the book to the Librarian, renew his note for the like time.

III. Every perſon, not being a member, who ſhall hire a book, &c. ſhall firſt give a note for double the value thereof, in the ſame manner, and be ſubject to the ſame regulations, as a member; and ſhall alſo depoſite, as ſecurity, in the hands of the Librarian, double the value of ſuch book or books; but if the book or books ſhould belong to a ſet, then ſuch perſon ſhall depoſite treble the value of the volume or volumes which he ſhall ſo take out.

IV. Every member, or other perſon, who ſhall take out a book or books on hire, ſhall pay, for the uſe of the library, the following rates, weekly: For Duodecimos and Octavos two ſixteenths of a dollar, Quartos three ſixteenths of a dollar, and Folios four ſixteenths of a dollar, and no ſmaller ſum, although the book may be returned within the week.

V. Every member, or other perſon, who ſhall neglect to return the book or books, within the time ſpecified in the ſecond rule, ſhall, for ſuch neglect, pay to the Librarian, for the uſe of the library, (beſides the hire, where the book is not taken out by virtue of a ſhare,) two ſixteenths of a dollar per week: and if not returned, undefaced, within one month from the expiration of the time limited in the note, the fines and hire accruing thereupon ſhall be doubled; and if not ſo returned within three months from the ſame period, the note or depoſite money ſhall be forfeited to the company.

VI. Books returned are to be delivered into the hands of the Librarian, to be examined whether damaged or not.

VII. No perſon from whom any hire or forfeiture is due, or who hath damaged any book, ſhall be permitted to have another book till ſatisfaction be made.

VIII. If a member, and one who is not a member, ſhould apply for the ſame book at the ſame time, the member ſhall have the preference.

IX. A member may take out on hire, without a depoſite, as many books in value for which his ſhare in the library ſhall, by the Librarian, be deemed a ſufficient ſecurity, on the ſame terms, in other reſpects, as perſons who are not members.

X. The Librarian ſhall furniſh the Directors, at each monthly meeting, with an account of the fines and forfeitures which have accrued during the preceding month.

XI. The Librarian is to conform to the inſtructions of the Directors with regard to ſuch books as, from their ſcarcity and value, are to be let out only on certain conditions, or not at all.

XII. No perſon, whether a member or not, is to lend the book or books he borrows to any perſon out of his dwelling-houſe.

XIII. No book ſhall be lent on the ſhare of a deceaſed member, unleſs the note be ſigned by all the executors or adminiſtrators of ſuch deceaſed member, or by ſome one of them, appointed and authorized by written orders of the others.

July 1, 1807—Since the first formation of the Company.—76 YEARS.

* The Instrument of Association, signed by thirty-eight Members, was dated July 1, 1731. The first meeting of the Directors, therein appointed, was held on the eighth day of November following. The first importation of Books from London, amounting to £45 sterling, arrived the last of October, 1732, and on the fourteenth of the next ensuing month Louis Timothée, the first Librarian, was appointed, and the Library thereupon opened in a chamber of Robert Grace's house, in Jones's Alley, now called Pewter-platter Alley. On the seventh of April, 1740, the Library was moved from thence to the western wing of the State House. In August, 1773, it was transferred to the Carpenters' Hall, and in October, 1790, it was placed in the present building.

† At this time the Union Library (into which the Amicable and Association Libraries had previously merged) was incorporated with this Company, and John De Mauregnault, Librarian of the former, and Ludowic Sprogle, Librarian of the latter Company, jointly performed the duties of that station, until the first of May, 1770, when Ludowic Sprogle resigned.
